Hi Molly,

These are the $4.2 million:

U.S. EPA		2,034,535.00
U. S. EPA WPDG Grant		97,959.00
NOAA (Kelp via Nature Conservancy, via NFWF)		260,384.00
Federal ARRA funds (via the State)		1,835,739.00
Total		4,228,617.00

The U.S. EPA grant had much more funds around 2010/2011, there were two overlapping grants, that is the reason it shows larger than $500k-600k annual average. The WPDG project started slow the early years. For the Kelp program, the 2012/2013 shows the beginning of the Kelp restoration program. The last one is the rain garden funds I mentioned before. I hope this helps and pls let me know if you have any questions.

Great thank you. Yes that would fill the apparent 2 million grant.
Thanks so much!

Hi Molly,

Since he is quoting the 990's, I'll check them first and will talk to our auditors too, since they work with the 990's. I think I can have a breakdown by tomorrow. Also, I just remember, three years ago when I first got here we had received a large grant to make our Culver City rain garden, which was a grant of about $2 million from the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act (Federal). Now the $4.2 makes more sense. I'll get back to you with more details.

Hi Marcelo,

Here is the statement I referred to in our call. I hope you can explain if this is accurate and if not provide the accurate numbers per year and the source for those funds (ie NEP vs Wetland Development)

TBF's last three Form 990s (from July 1, 2010 to June 30, 2013) indicate that TBF received a total of $4.2 million in federal grants and contracts during that time, accounting for approximately 61% of its total revenue of $6.9 million during the same timeframe.

Thanks!
